SOVIET GOVERNMENT DENIES "DUMPING" OF GRAIN ON MARKET

Blames Glut Upon
Bumper Crop In Russia This Year

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—Official denial that the Soviet government is "dumping" wheat and other grains on the markets of the world was made by a high Soviet official to International News Service here today.

The present glut of Russian grain upon the world's markets was said to be due to the harvesting of a bumper crop of grain, the largest in the history of the Soviet.

The bumper crop of wheat, barley and rye was harvested despite the fact government grain collections are slow due to the bulky unwieldy machinery of collection. In addition, peasant employees of collective farms are known to be "stalling," doing their best to halt speedy production of a commodity the bulk of which goes to the government and only a comparatively small amount to themselves.

In spite of all this, however, the government has been enabled to procure for export a total of 4,000,000 and possibly 5,000,000 tons of wheat, barley and rye.

Unable to export this huge expected total immediately, Soviet operators probably sold short on the Chicago exchange in an attempt to even up for losses sustained in European markets, where grain was sold for lower prices. In connection with the denial of "dumping," it is difficult to compute the actual cost of production in this country, since the collective farms, which turn out the bulk of the grain used domestically and for export, are bound up with the entire system of national economy.

INVESTIGATION OF SHOOTING CLOSED; CAUSE IS MYSTERY

Believe Gun Weilder
Was Unbalanced
Mentally

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.—Investigation of the fatal shooting Tuesday of Maxwell C. Byers and Dudley Gray, president and vice president, respectively, of the Western Maryland Railway Company, was closed today with the removal of the bodies to their respective homes in Point Pleasant, W. Va., and Columbus, O., for burial.

Dr. Otto M. Reinhardt, coroner, said, "in my opinion, after questioning Mrs. Gray, officials and employees of the company and others, the truth of the shooting never will be known. On the face of it I believe, Mr. Gray was unbalanced mentally, but what brought that condition about is something else and will remain a mystery."

"I have given my verdict that Mr. Gray murdered Mr. Byers and then committed suicide, and the case is closed."

This statement was preceded by a written announcement by the company which said the two executives had "frequently differed sharply" on business matters.

Executives of several eastern railroads and local bankers and business men attended the funeral of Gray in Columbus this morning. Many of them will make the 100-mile journey to Point Pleasant to attend the services for Byers who will be buried tomorrow.

CITIZENS' TICKET WINS DESIGNATION WITH COURT RULING

Cincinnati Party Is Denied Use Of Circle
On Ballot

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25.—The Ohio Supreme Court today had disposed of three election cases in which oral argument was submitted at a special session of the court here Wednesday.

Acting upon a request for an order requiring the Hamilton County election board to print the names of the candidates of the Citizens' party, of Cincinnati, on the November election ballot under their party designation, the supreme court so ordered. The court, however, rejected the proposal that the circle be placed above this list of candidates. As a result, a "straight" Citizens' ticket can only be voted by placing an X opposite the name of each candidate, instead of placing a single X mark in a circle at the top of the ticket.

The supreme court rejected the suit of Pearl V. Whetsel, Columbus, who sought to invalidate the renomination at the August Republican primary election of Dr. Joseph A. Murphy, also of Columbus, as Franklin County coroner. The judges agreed with Whetsel that the letters "M. D." were unlawfully printed on the ballots after Murphy's name, but held that Whetsel should have protested in time to remedy the situation prior to the primary election.

The court also rejected the application of David Klein, Cleveland, for an order requiring the Cuyahoga County election board to place his name on the ballot as a nonpartisan candidate for clerk of the Cuyahoga County courts.

Just a political mixup," is the opinion expressed by Sally Lou Ritz, dancer in "Artists and Models," of the mysterious disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Crater of New York. Miss Ritz, interviewed at her home in Youngstown, O., where she said she went to be with her sick father, could shed no light on the case. She said the evening he disappeared, when she and her family had dinner with the jurist, was the first time she had met Crater.

CONVICT THIRD FOR MURDER IN KILLING OF GALLON VICTIM

Die; Accomplices Also Face Death

BUENOS AIRES, O., Sept. 25.—Convicted of murder in the first degree in connection with the fatal shooting of Ralph Wilcox, Gallon filling station attendant, Earl Sites, last of a Mansfield bandit trio to be tried and convicted for the slaying, today awaited a mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary.

Sites was found guilty of complicity in the murder late yesterday afternoon after the jury had deliberated only one hour and twenty minutes. His accomplices in the fatal shooting, Fred Massa and Kenneth McCartney, also were convicted of murder in the first degree and Massa is now in death row at Ohio Penitentiary. McCartney, whose sentence and removal to the prison were postponed so that he might testify in Sites' behalf, and Sites, will probably be formally sentenced and placed in death row this week. Massa is scheduled to be electrocuted January 2.

McCartney, who was brought in to the courtroom yesterday heavily manacled, declared that Sites did not have a part in the holdup and shooting. He also insisted from the witness stand that the trio had not planned to "stick-up" the station.

A new trial will be asked for Sites, his attorney announced here today.

JONES LEADS FIRST MATCH AFTER FIRST NINE BY ONE STROKE

Plays Fay Coleman; Mc-
Carthy Tackles Jess
Sweetser

(BULLETIN)
MERION CRICKET CLUB,
SOUTH ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 25.—Robert Tyre Jones was a comfortable two up at the end of the first eighteen holes of his match with Fay Coleman, here today. He didn't have the easy time expected but he came through with a hard drive on the last three holes, winning the sixteenth and seventeenth and halving the eighteenth after losing the fifteenth to be even.

Merion Cricket Club, South Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 25.—Bobby Jones played the first few holes of this match with Fay Coleman, of California, in the third round of the national amateur championship tournament here this morning in greater peace and comfort than he has enjoyed since he first became a stellar attraction of the links. Cash customers were few and far between at Merion, possibly because the skies looked threatening, and also because the gallery is still suffering from the reaction of the protracted Von Elm-McCarthy twenty-eight-hole match last night.

The first pair to get away were Eugene Homans, the tall, bespectacled golfer from Englewood, and Johnny Lehman, of Chicago. These two hold their respective district championships and their match is certain to be close over the thirty-six-hole route. Next on the program came Charlie Seaver, of California, and William McPhail, of Massachusetts, followed by McCarthy and Jess Sweetser, of Siwanoy.

McCarthy was apparently not suffering from his gruelling match with Von Elm, for the Brooklyn lad is young and used to strenuous sport. He was a four-letter man at Georgetown, from which he recently was graduated, so forty-eight holes of golf in one day doesn't mean a thing in his life.

Bob Jones got off a good drive at the first hole straight down the fairway, considerably better than Coleman's tee shot which caught the trap to the left. Coleman's second was a fine shot, forty feet from the pin on the green, while Bob was twenty feet away to the right of the flag. Coleman's putt was five feet short while Jones was not more than three feet, but after Fay missed his putt Jones promptly threw away the opportunity of becoming one up by failing to get his four. They halved in five.

The second hole was also halved in 5's, but Jones took the lead at the third was a par 4, just missing the putt for a birdie.

Both Jones and Coleman went a stroke over par at the long fourth, 595 yards. There Bob topped his brassie second, and the ball rolled into the rough a few feet over the edge. Coleman had a long second but it rolled into the rough on the right of the fairway, and he was still forty-five feet short in 3. Jones missed his approach and the ball landed squarely in the trap back of the green.

Fay's putt was too strongly hit and the ball rolled past the pin by six feet. Jones came out of the trap five feet from the cup and missed the putt for a win by inches and they halved in 6. Jones was still 1 up at the fourth hole.

Jones shot a birdie 3 to win the fifth and become 2 up on Coleman. Jones lost the sixth hole when he went one over par, leaving him one up.

Again Jones was in front from the tee at the seventh and Coleman, playing his second, was fifteen feet from the pin. Jones was twenty feet away but missed his birdie by a foot. Coleman came up to within two feet but blew his second putt and took a five to Jones' four, going two down again.

Coleman's drive was shorter than Jones at the eighth and turned up covered with mud. He barely missed the pin with his second, stopping four feet away. Jones popped in seven feet beyond the pin and stuck, leaving his ball encrusted with mud. Coleman then laid Jones a stymie when his ball stopped on the cup lip but the Atlanta rolled up alongside and then tapped his opponents' ball away for a pair of fours.

Coleman won the short ninth with a par 3, Jones taking a four and they went into the turn with Jones one up.

Jones ..... 5 5 3 6 3 5 4 4 — 39
Coleman ..... 5 5 4 6 4 5 4 3 — 40

TOLEDO MAN SLATED FOR COMMANDER OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Will Promote Robert J.
West To Grand Office In Ohio.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 25.—With Sir Knight Robert J. West of Toledo, deputy grand commander, slated for promotion to the post of grand commander, succeeding R. L. Quiesler of Cleveland, the eighty-eighth annual convocation, Knights Templar of Ohio, today went into its final session.

Although drawn in comparison with yesterday's colorful ceremonies which included one of the most spectacular parades in the memory of any of the 10,000 knights to participate, the day's program and business session aroused considerable interest.

Toledo, it was expected, will be chosen as the site for the 1931 convocation of the order.

One of the outstanding questions scheduled for consideration by the knights today was whether the Ohio Knights Templars will assume the financing of the De Moway organization.

The highlight of yesterday's program was the brilliant parade of 10,000 knights representing the seventy-nine commanderies of the state. Although marred somewhat by intermittent showers, the parade drew thousands of spectators. Prizes were awarded in several contests, the winners included:

Mt. Vernon Commandery No. 1, won a beaueant for having the most past commanders in line.

Hanselman Commandery of Cincinnati won two guidons for showing the greatest man mileage.

Akron Commandery No. 25, won an American flag for having the largest number of swords in line; a second prize of a silver floral bowl and candlesticks for bringing the most ladies to the convocation; and a third prize of a loving cup for having the largest band.

Niles Commandery No. 79, won a cup for the largest percentage of members present.

Individual prizes were awarded to Chester Lee of Toledo Commandery No. 7, who tipped the scales at 239 as the heaviest man; C. G. Stream of Lorain Commandery No. 65, who tipped the scales at 113 as the lightest man; and A. M. Krusy of Toledo Commandery No. 7, who measured six feet, five inches as the tallest man.

WASHINGTON, C. H., O., Sept. 25.—Expert accountants today are preparing testimony which they will submit to the Fayette County grand jury concerning their inspection of the books of the defunct Ohio State and the People and Drovers' Banks here.

The grand jury was recessed late Wednesday for one week after sending the day listening to testimony from Mal S. Daugherty, who was president of the Ohio State Bank; O. C. Gray, Columbus, state banking superintendent, who is supervising the liquidation of the affairs of the two banks; N. P.

Clyburn, attorney for Daugherty, Harry Ellis Daugherty, son of Mal, and other former officials of the Ohio State Bank, including Eyord M. Ford, Columbus, former teller. Ford recently admitted that he embezzled $1,000 of the bank's funds. He repaid the money and is on one year's probation.

Prosecuting Attorney W. Stanley Paxson hopes to be able to present to the grand jury next Wednesday the testimony of the two accountants who for the past week have been inspecting the banks' records for the purpose of discovering all evidences of criminal misconduct.

TO CONQUER NATION LEADER DECLARES; REVOLT PREDICTED

Will Break Treaties Fascist Head Says Before Judges

LEIPZIG, Germany, Sept. 25.—Adolf Hitler, bold man of German politics and head of the Fascists, unflinchingly mounted the witness stand of the supreme court of the land today and proclaimed without hesitation that Fascism, through peaceful means, eventually was fated to conquer the nation.

Summoned to testify at the trial of three young Reichwehr officers who are charged with spreading Fascist propaganda in the army, Hitler bore out International News Service predictions and addressed himself as much to the youth and army of Germany as he did to the solemn black-robed judges who listened calmly as the gospel of Fascism was expounded in the government's own house of justice.

Granted an opportunity to explain his cause by the German system of court procedure with the question presented to him as to whether or not his party aimed at any illegal movements in order to gain political power, Hitler was quick to make full use of the moment.

"A war veteran I know only too well that I cannot fight the army and police with illegal means," Hitler declared. "Our so-called storm troop detachments are merely for protection against political terrorists. But a sound idea will conquer the state through itself."

Shrewdly lauding his own cause and at the same time endorsing himself as unremittent promoter of the public peace, Hitler continued:

"I have always insisted that nothing can be done against the law. Undermining the army is a crime against any nation."

Recalling the ill-fated Munich "putsch" of 1923, in which he was an associate of General Erich Von Ludendorff, Hitler testified that the authorities themselves forced him into the coup. For this he was sentenced to five years in a fortress prison but later was released.

Even the usual staid solemnity of the court chamber was not immune to the force of Hitler's oratory. Cries of "bravo!" from followers in the audience which packed the chamber punctuated his vigorous speech. With utmost confidence in the success of his aims, he outlined his party's proposed course of action.

"If our movement is victorious," he said, "a special court will assemble to avenge the crime of the revolution of 1918."

"Then heads will begin to topple off."

The Fascist leader assured his hearers that growth of Fascism in Germany had been and must necessarily be a slow, cumulative process, and that Fascist ideals were not to be gained by overnight precipitancy.

"Two or three more elections will lead to a national socialist uprising," he declared. "Then we will break the treaties imposed upon us by all means at our command. Then we will be in revolution."

OHIO PYTHIANS TO MEET IN MARIETTA

LEIPZIG, Sept. 25.—Force of arms does not figure in the revolutionary campaign of the Fascist party in Germany. Adolf Hitler, leader of the organization told the supreme court here today.

COUNTRY CLUB WILL INSTALL NEW WATER PUMPING SYSTEM

An adequate supply of water for sprinkling purposes at the Xenia Country Club without using the domestic supply is assured with action of the Board of Directors this week to build an auxiliary pumping station at the club.

Arrangements are now being made for erection of a combination shelter house and pumping station in the newly installed picnic grove at the club. Pumping equipment will be installed there to supply water from Shawnee Creek to be used exclusively for sprinkling.

The creek water will be piped to lawns, teeing grounds and greens through a separate distribution system from the pipes which convey the domestic supply. This domestic supply is obtained from pure springs on the property of I. S. Dines, adjacent to the club, and the auxiliary supply will provide for the large water demand at the club without endangering the source of the water used for drinking purposes.

Board members say the usual water demand is heavy at the club.

In order to keep the grass on the golf course fresh and green, and this demand was emphasized this year by the hot summer weather and long drought. By establishment of a separate pumping system drawing the water from the creek, an adequate water supply will be available for the golf course at little operation expense to the club, it is stated.

Erection of the pumping building in the picnic grove will permit the club to provide a shelter house for golfers and picnickers since both can be housed under the same roof. Plans for the improvement have been agreed upon, and steps taken by the board to authorize the purchase of the equipment.

AUTOS COLLIDE BUT DRIVERS NOT HURT

Both sedans were damaged to some extent but neither upset and no one was injured when an auto driven by Louis Anderson, 712 S. Detroit St., collided head-on with that of W. J. Oglesbee, 426 N. King St., in the middle of a bridge on the New Burlington Pike, two miles south of Xenia, at noon Wednesday.

Both Anderson and Oglesbee own farms south of the city. Oglesbee was driving to Xenia and Anderson's car, coming down a hill near the home of Frank Wolf, is believed to have skidded, causing the machine to swerve to the wrong side of the highway. The collision with Oglesbee's sedan is believed to have saved Anderson's machine from crashing through the guard rail and plunging down a ten-foot embankment.

"QUALITY IS EVERYTHING"

Says

JOHN HERTZ

Chairman of the Board
Omnibus Corp. of America

Owners of all the busses in New York and Chicago; Founder of the Yellow Cab Co. Director Forman-State National Bank, Chicago.

"A champion race horse or a leader in industry, I have found, is seldom a result of chance. Concentration upon quality—that's what counts. When I read the personal reports of your distinguished visitors, revealing your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos, I knew that you were on the right track. Quality is everything—and the American people demand and appreciate the best."

John Hertz

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Mr. John Hertz to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE'S famous Toasting Process. The statement of Mr. Hertz appears on this page.

"I'm so grateful to my grocer for getting me to try Rinso," says Mrs. Hill. "How easy washday is now... why all I do is soak and rinse! That saves mending, let me tell you! My clothes last much longer now. Rinso is just grand in our hard water; it gives such thick, soapy, lasting suds."

For dishwashing, too Rinso is the only soap you need—for the wash, for the dishes, for all cleaning. So economical; cup for cup it gives twice as much suds as light, puffed-up soaps. And no softer needed, even in hardest water.

Wonderful in washers; the makers of 38 leading washers endorse Rinso. Safe for finest linens. Get the BIG package.

CLEVELAND LADY SAYS, "KONJOLA IS WONDERFUL"

Just Another Proof Of The Powers Of This New And Different Medicine

"Konjola is a wonderful medicine," said Mrs. Elizabeth Harter, 2041 West Fifth St., Cleveland. "It has been almost two years since I took this medicine and I am still feeling 100%. I was bothered with indigestion and had severe pains

MRS. ELIZABETH HARTER in the lower part of my stomach. I bloated badly and had dizzy spells. I was very nervous; in fact I suffered a nervous breakdown. I could not rest at night and was barely able to do my work. Before I had completed the third bottle of Konjola I noticed a change. I took but four bottles and the indigestion pains, bloating and dizzy spells passed away. Konjola strengthened me generally and greatly benefited my nervous system."

People often express amazement at the speed with which this great medicine wins its victories. It is better, however to take a full treatment of from six to eight bottles. Konjola is a new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs long known for their medicinal value. Konjola works quickly and thoroughly at the very root, the fount of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief, but to bring new, glorious and lasting health.

Konjola is sold in Xenia, Ohio at the Gallagher Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Members of the First United Presbyterian Church will be entertained at a "fall" social at the church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GOD OF THE LIVING—But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.—Matthew 22:31, 32.

UNREST IN CUBA

Senator David I. Walsh is quoted as saying that "what has happened recently in other South American republics" would seem inevitable in Cuba "unless the influence of our government is exerted immediately to avert trouble." At the same time he is reported as stating that "we cannot avoid the responsibility of assuring the Cuban people the right to exercise their basic privilege to declare who shall govern them."

One finds it almost as difficult to square this demand for action by the United States with the implied demand for the abrogation of the Platt amendment, which regularizes American intervention in the domestic affairs of Cuba, as it is to locate Cuba among South American republics. Cuba already is suffering from economic distress. Would its condition be improved by adding a reign of political terror, which more likely than not would immediately follow the removal of Uncle Sam's warning hand? The Cubans already enjoy the right to declare who shall govern them, as long as they do so in accordance with their own constitution.

The Platt amendment, which is part of that constitution, authorizes the United States to intervene to see that Cuban independence is preserved "and to maintain a government capable of protecting life, property and individual liberty." A time of political unrest, like the present, would seem to be just the time when this amendment would exercise its most beneficial influence over the temper of the Cuban people.

Cuba is merely one victim of the existing world-wide economic depression. Cuba enjoys a 20 per cent tariff preference, which the United States does not accord to any other foreign country. The United States takes about 80 per cent of Cuba's exports. That would seem to be fair enough. The immediate occasion of the Cuban economic debacle is the slump in the price of sugar, which is due to worldwide overproduction and for which the United States is in no way responsible. The kindest thing this country can do for Cuba is to refrain from encouraging its political freebooters to take advantage of economic distress to further their own ambitions.

The peace of Europe will be more secure when France can regard fascist gains at the polls in Germany with the same equanimity with which Americans regarded a conservative victory in Canada.

We could live almost as cheaply as we used to, if we were content to live the way we used to. Some day the world will have to go back to the old way.

The Italian government has just tested out the world's fastest cruiser. Another victory for peace and disarmament.

Strange how excited the French Nationalists can become over the political rise of German Nationalists!

Some of the midget golf courses are so small they are less than even that.

Somebody in England has suggested that children be taught to write with both hands. It is pretty difficult to operate a typewriter any other way.

The WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

THE KING'S CODE

It is said the King of England has six rules by which he seeks to guide his private life. Let it be the code of a king or the code of an average man, it's a good one. It sounds simple, easy to follow, but it is not. Here it is:

- "Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game."
- "Teach me to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, admiring the one and despising the other."
- "Teach me neither to offer nor to receive cheap praise."
- "If I am called upon to suffer, let me like a well-bred beast that goes away to suffer in silence."
- "Teach me to win, if I may; if I may not, teach me to be a good loser."
- "Teach me neither to cry for the moon nor to cry over spilt milk."

THE VALUE OF RULES

It is not difficult to write rules like the above. Books, papers, magazines, wall cards are full of them. They read well. We call them good, inspiring. And that's all we do about them. Suppose, for example, we study each one of the above rules for a moment, applying it to our own living, and see how close we are to that sort of life. After we have thoroughly tried them on our pianos we may be permitted the fun of analyzing our friends.

SELLING ONESELF

Many men and women, working for a boss, work so intensely to "sell themselves" to the chief, to "put themselves over" that they wear themselves out. That's why they are flighty, nervous, intense, with bad judgment, and usually with bad health. When you get all over trying to prove to the boss how good you are, when you learn to go your own way, do as well as you know how, and be quiet, you will have a sense of serenity and a sense of freedom that make real peace of mind.

GOLD BRAID

Somebody has said and said well that titles sound big for small men, but sound very small for really big men.

FAIRY TALES

There is not much competent teaching of history. English textbooks say little about Joan of Arc who drove the English out of France, but a great deal about Napoleon who actually ran nerve enough to want to invade England. And so it goes for all nations. Burns, professor of citizenship in Glasgow university, does well when he says we ought to abandon the fairy tale method of teaching history. Civilization came from no one nation. It is the product of international intercourse.

AS BAD AS THIS?

Fosdick, by the way, writing to the editor of the Christian Century, pleads for an abandonment of "crude, obsolete, supernaturalism in this twilight and uncivilized country."

Even if it is as bad as that, Dr. Fosdick—and some of us suspect it is—there is hope. For man is SOMEBODY and he is going SOMEWHERE. He is just slow. Be patient.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—A business woman who takes the Suffrage Amendment seriously and who has endeavored to engage in district politics, is experiencing serious qualms.

"The political district club," she says, "is solely a club for men. Since I do not spit, and play poker, there is nothing to interest me!"

VERSATILE MERCHANT
I discovered recently a benefactor of the human race, unknown, unhonored and unsung.

His name is Russell and his laboratory, studio and study is located on West 53rd Street. An old-fashioned swinging sign announces that the Worthy Brother deals in Pneumonia Salve, Cleaning and Scouring Products and Old Fashioned Vanilla.

JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES
Like my old friend, Tony Detino, Pedal Polishing Maestro, one time member of the Italian army, who used to walk around with his pants pockets full of cheap diamonds. We called him "Kid Tifany." His business card was inscribed as follows:

"Prof. Tony Detino. Shoe Shining, Florist, Diamonds, Watches, Real Estate and Fencing."

And "way down, in the south-west corner of the card he had added: "Furnaces attended to."

WISE CRACK
Longacre Lil was descending on the "charms" of a certain unpleasant female Broadwayfarer.

"She's the kind of 'jane,'" said Lil, "you just naturally love to hate!"

WHAT IS POLITENESS?
The interviewers had all that in mind when they crossed the threshold of the Mencken hotel-suite the other day.

Mrs. Mencken smiled and apologized for the water-wave net on her hair.

The newspapermen didn't give a darn about her hair.

"Is he polite?" they shouted. "Of course he is polite," smiled Mrs. Hank. Then she added: "I don't know just what to say. I haven't the knack for clever interviewing. Ask Henry. He knows how to do that?"

She elevated her voice and called "Henry" and he responded like a subway turnstile to a nickel.

"Henry," said Sara Mencken, "what is politeness?"

SENATOR COUZENS FINALLY TELLS INSIDE OF REVOLUTIONARY MEASURE IN 1914 THAT DOUBLED FORD WORKERS' WAGES

WASHINGTON.—If Senator James Couzens could be persuaded to talk freely about Henry Ford (whom he habitually refuses to discuss, and with a pointedness that simply whets one's curiosity), he unquestionably could furnish an intensely interesting analysis of the flivver king's personality.

He actually did give a sample of what might reasonably be expected from him on this subject when, during his recent successful campaign for renomination to the senate, he told the story of his conversion to advocacy of the highest wages an industry can afford to pay to its workers, in preference to getting labor as cheaply as possible.

The senator's idea evidently was that his anecdote related rather to a past experience of his own than to one in the life of his early associate in automobile production, and, indeed, as he recounted it, Ford figured in the episode very casually and incidentally. It is only by considering it in connection with other historical facts that one sees the real significance in the career of the tin Lizzie's inventor.

Even Henry Ford makes mistakes. His peace expedition was one, as he admitted before it was ended—but that was a mistake merely to be laughed at.

By belatedly discontinuing it, he finally admitted also that his prolonged anti-Semitic campaign was a mistake—an exceedingly unfortunate mistake; not a funny one. The public, however, has given him credit for one magnificent inspiration which seems to be recognized as worth far more than enough to offset all the effects (evil, bizarre or whatnot) of every error that ever he fell into—or is likely to, in the remainder of his lifetime.

That is to say: The discovery (attributed to him) of the principle that maximum wages not only are justice to the worker, but essential to the employer's prosperity.

It seems odd now to call it a discovery (American capital is so generally "sold" on it) but it really was regarded as one in the winter of 1914-15, when the Ford factories abruptly placed even the humblest and least skilled of their hands upon a $5-a-day minimum basis—fully twice the money that it would be in the present era of post-war prices.

To be sure, by no means all employers immediately accepted the new principle. On the contrary, it was regarded by many as downright revolutionary and out-and-out dangerous—which just goes to show that it required a truly independent thinker to arrive at what then was deemed so radical a conclusion, and a bold spirit to initiate what was so widely referred to as a fatal policy.

Today high pay is the American credo. More, the antidote for industrial depression is. "Still higher pay for shorter hours."

And Henry Ford has had the thanks for it.

It develops now that the inspiration was not Ford's, but Senator Couzens' when the latter was the Ford Motor company's general manager.

Yes, it was in the winter of 1914-15.

Couzens fixes the time. Perforce he had just discharged some thousands of workmen. "From my office window," so runs the story, "I watched them milling around the gates. It was bitterly cold. Under those conditions I saw the hose turned on them. Right then I was converted."

From his own office General Manager Couzens repaired straightway to Henry Ford's, with a proposal for a sweeping increase in wages, that such men as we could keep might be able to save something against future lay-offs.

It perhaps, a despot, Henry Ford is a benevolent one.

"After 48 hours of discussion," continues the senator's narrative, "he agreed to a raise from $230 daily to $5—and for that I want to pay my warmest compliments to Henry Ford."

It was a big increase. There can be no denial of Henry Ford's good will in the matter. Senator Couzens testifies to it. He likewise tells the "inside" of that sensational announcement of the Ford $5 minimum for the first time it ever has been related.

The date—the figures—everything dovetails with the 1914-15 version—everything but the Couzens account of the inspiration's origin.

I always had thought it was Henry Ford's own inspiration. In fact, I got that impression from Henry Ford himself—on his peace trip. He described it as if he had evolved it unaided, out of chaos.

It seems it was not quite like that—according to Senator Couzens.

As he explains it, it was not exactly an inspiration. It was a conversation—and, in the first place, not Henry Ford's conversion either, but Senator Couzens'. The inspiration appears to have been an afterthought.

I would like to hear Senator Couzens tell some more Henry Ford stories, but I never expect to. I suspect that even this one was inadvertent.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT
American Chop Suey
Cabbage and Green Pepper Salad
Pickled Peas or Peaches
Jelly
Applesauce Pie
Coffee
The cabbage and green pepper salad consists of the usual shredded or chopped cabbage with a wee bit of onion, if you like it, and a green pepper chopped with it. Tomato or grated carrot may be added for color.

Today's Recipes

American Chicken Chop Suey—Two cups diced cold chicken, one cup cooked celery cut in strips, one and one-half cups chicken gravy or stock, one and one-half cups cooked rice, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon butter or shortening, two tablespoons flour. Mix celery, chicken, rice, salt and pepper well. Stir flour into melted shortening and add the above mixture, heat thoroughly. One cup of cooked mushrooms may be added if desired. This will serve six.

Applesauce Pie—One pint applesauce, one-half cup sugar, two teaspoons vanilla, one-half pint whipping cream, pinch salt, two tablespoons sugar. Make applesauce, using as little water as possible, and add one teaspoon vanilla and the half cup of sugar, or more if desired. Put into pie shell and cover with whipped cream to which salt, sugar and the other teaspoon of vanilla have been added. Serve at once.

Suggestions
Jelly Hoop
If you do not have a jelly bag on a stand, fasten a pair of embroidery hoops around the top of bag and see how much easier it is to put in the fruit and how much it saves the hands from stains.

Pretty Mold
If the kitchen lacks a set of molds, a pretty way to mold cranberries, jelly, etc., is to pour while hot into egg cups and allow to cool. When cold it will have the shape of eggs and can be served on dish surrounded with greens. Rinse cups in cold water before pouring in the liquid.

Breakfast or Luncheon Dish
Ham Patties

One cup finely chopped cooked ham, one-fourth cup bread crumbs, one-fourth cup milk, one tablespoon butter, salt, pepper. Mix well, put in patty tins, about half filling them. Break an egg on top of each patty, cover with salted bread crumbs, and bake ten minutes in quick oven.

Baby's Body Needs Plenty Of Fuel

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The baby is a very high powered digestive machine.

Its body needs fuel, fuel, fuel—all the time, day and night. The baby's body is very much of a going concern—like an ocean liner, or a racing car. "Give me more energy," it cries to its stomach and intestine. "More Gas! More Gas!"

The little thing's stomach and bowels have to keep churning up energy for this bustling, growing organism at the highest possible pressure. Hence they are taxed to the limit of capacity far more nearly than the adult's stomach.

The digestive system of the baby is, however, not capable of taking care of a large variety of foods. Milk is about the only thing its functions are adapted to for several months. It can digest good mother's milk splendidly—cow's milk it does not digest so easily and the limits of its capacity for cow's milk are somewhat smaller. Sugar it utilizes very well.

A calm baby is likely to be a healthy baby. The amount of secretion of the stomach digestive juices in the baby is quickly reduced by pain or fright or other emotional experiences. A kindly but bony old aunt, with spectacles and "false teeth, poking a long forefinger at the baby and saying "Eeche, eeche, e-e-e-e" in a rising crescendo, may dry the poor little thing up like the Mojave desert.

Fever and hot weather may do the same thing. It is always important to try to keep the baby reasonably cool.

The baby's stomach and bowels are much the same as the adults. The major portion of digestion occurs in the small intestine. It is carried on by the secretions, especially of the pancreas, partly of the liver and intestinal juices.

A good index of healthy digestion in infancy is the condition of the stools. The healthy baby has two to four bowel movements a day. Babies fed on cow's milk usually have fewer or bowel movements than those fed on mother's milk. But there is no hard and fast rule about the number of stools in infancy. Some perfectly healthy babies pass only one stool a day, and others as many as seven or eight.

A healthy infant stool should be soft, golden yellow or greenish in color, acid in reaction, with a sour but not a repulsive odor.

Lumps in the stool usually mean incomplete digestion, generally of the protein portions of the food. Mucous is present normally in small amounts. It is increased in proportion to the amount of intestinal irritation. Thus, whenever the digestion is disarranged, increased amounts of mucous are likely to be present in the stool.

Give Mate Flattery As In Courting

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"MOST HUSBANDS don't show their wives attention enough," writes a correspondent.

It's true. We all get so used to our mates that we forget that they like to be made a fuss over and looked up to and flattered just as they did in our courting days.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Just read 'Worried's' letter and I am wondering whether you, in answering it, put yourself in her place. 'What is good for the goose is good for the gander.' What would her husband say if she acted the same way he has been doing with some nice old man? I wouldn't want my husband's billing and cooing with some other woman just because she was older—no, not even twice my age."

"And do you think it shows respect to his mother, should he have one, to be putting someone else in her place? I may be all wrong, but most of us have nothing in this world but our homes and families, and there are enough sorrows and heartaches without deliberately making more."

"Anyway, most husbands don't show their own wives attention enough without dividing with someone else. It isn't that we are jealous or selfish, but kissing and loving just for the fun of it belongs at home. I for one don't blame her for being tired and worried."

"I am for you, with a tender heart. Worried, and, as Virginia says there's nothing you can do anyway, regardless of feelings."

"CONSTANT READER." I tried to put myself into Worried's place and in the husband's place and also to see into the mind of the older woman who was allowing Worried's husband to make love to her. Constant Reader. Such cases are unusual, and it is hard, especially if you cannot possibly know the people involved and hear one side, and that in a letter. The only possible consolation I could think of was that the infatuation—if that is what it was—would probably not last, and that by feeling sorry for the woman and trying to see that there might be extenuating circumstances, "Worried" might find comfort for herself. Thank you for your letter.

"I think your boy friend was wholly in the wrong, and instead of his 'bluntly telling' you how 'terrible' you were, he should have taken himself to task. In the first place, if he could have left the theater without disturbing the other couple, it was only good manners to have done so, as the rules of good behavior are based on thoughtfulness for others."

In the second place, he should have watched and followed you, instead of taking the lead, so that even if he had started to go the other way he should have noticed that you were headed right and gone after you. In which case neither would have been embarrassed."

Your friend must feel a little uncertain of himself, and that is why he is so sensitive about such matters. And a perfect gentleman would have taken the blame, even if he did think you were wrong, instead of scolding you.

A P."

"Please tell me how terrible wrong I was. I am engaged to this boy and feel like we can discuss these things openly. He is almost perfect on these matters and very sensitive about the mistakes of others."

Sometimes, if the body is not excessively fleshy, a glove silk garment is all that is needed to give the figure ideal curves. This type of garment is sold in most shops, and is attaining a great degree of popularity among discriminating women.

The strictest cleanliness with the corset, whether it be one with heavy stays, or the lightest essential, any corset gathers perspiration rapidly. And frequent washings are necessary to keep the garment clean and fresh.

It is far better not to wear a corset, than to adopt one of the cheaper, short styles. I believe that the figure that is "pleasingly plump" looks better uncorseted. The hips alone have a bit of excess flesh around them, a hip corset is advisable. There is no necessity of restricting the upper part of the body.

The Miami Valley League is beginning to recognize the value of publicity—or so it would appear. Representatives of the six league schools—Xenia Central, Piqua, Troy, Sidney, Greenville and Miamisburg—meeting in their semi-annual session at Dayton Tuesday night discussed at some length the possibility of establishing what is construed as a kind of clearing house, or news bureau for dispensing information on school athletics to newspapers in Dayton and in the cities where the schools are located.

A committee consisting of W. C. Neff, principal of Miamisburg High; P. C. Warner, principal of Greenville High, and Dean Snyder, principal of Sidney High, was appointed to look into the matter a little further and submit a report at the next league session December 2.

A suggestion that two officials instead of one be employed to handle all league basketball games in future years was almost unanimously approved by the school representatives but no definite action was taken at the meeting.

Another topic which was discussed informally was the suggestion that the league make an attempt to obtain uniform contracts for the services of officials in football and basketball.

The schools also dislike the practice of some officials who "walk out" on high school games when they obtain more attractive offers from colleges.

The battle for the 1930 football championship will begin along two fronts, Saturday, October 11 when Xenia Central entertains Piqua and Greenville invades Troy. Miamisburg and Sidney will play non-league games that week.

His performance merited much praise last season and Ed Jacobs, Dayton Pike, is figured as the main bulwark on the line of Muskingum College's football team this fall. Ed will again play a tackle position and should reach the crest of his grid career this season. He is in his senior year and scales 190 pounds when in trim. There is also an Alpha youth on the Muskie squad this season, Marcus Stewart, sophomore, who weighs 150 pounds, is fighting for a berth at quarter and may get into a few games.

One of Yale's football veterans has just told for the first time a story of the elementary instruction he received from Tom Shevlin, one of the Blue Immortals.

He expected Shevlin to start showing him how to block, tackle, etc. But Shevlin didn't, according to the veteran's story in a popular magazine. He merely took his pup to aside and lectured him thus: "If you want to be a great football player, or even a good one, the first thing to remember is this—get crazy."

Anyone who later saw Shevlin and Fielding Yost arranging chairs and tables after the manner of two teams lined up for action, and then watched the two crash through, scattering furniture in all directions, must have had his own confirmation of this theory.

To ascertain if there is a distinct reaction among the fans against the present era of long-distance hitting and top-heavy scoring, the Cincinnati Post has inaugurated a poll among its readers on the question of whether fans still get the "kick" they formerly did out of circuit plays.

Plans to curb the evil have been suggested but the simplest and most logical of all is the elimination of the so-called "rabbit" ball, which has been in use for a number of years.

The manufacturers strenuously deny they have made any attempt to change the structure of the ball in order to make it livelier. They claim the ball now in use is livelier and can be hit more swiftly to greater distances solely because much better material has been used in its manufacture in late years.

JAMESTOWN PLAYS WILMINGTON TEAM

Evans will get the pitching assignment when the Jamestown Independents face the Schram Jewellers of Wilmington in what is expected to be a close game Sunday afternoon on the Leach Park diamond. The Wilmington nine was runnerup this season in a league composed of ten fast semi-pro teams in and around Washington. C. H. Shadley and Shaw, two former Jamestown players, will probably appear in the lineup of the visiting team. Corry is expected to pitch for the Jewellers.

INFANT SUCCUMBS

A post mortem examination was to be conducted Thursday afternoon by Dr. R. L. Haines, Jamestown, to determine the cause of the death of Ruby Pearl Nicely, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Nicely, 11 S. West St. The baby became suddenly ill Wednesday evening and died Thursday morning at 6:45 o'clock. She was born in Xenia December 8, 1929.

Besides her parents she is survived by a half brother. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Neeld Funeral Home, W. Market St., with burial in Woodland Cemetery.

BUCCANEER OPENING LINEUP REMAINS MATTER OF CONJECTURE FOR FIRST CONTEST FRIDAY

Xenia Central High will pry the lid off its 1930 football season Friday afternoon at Washington C. H. but the probable Buccaneer starting lineup for the opening game remains a matter for conjecture.

Coach Walter Wilson is not at all certain just what players will start the game—particularly at the ends and at one halfback post.

This tentative starting lineup is pure guesswork, but here it is: Paul McClellan at center; Marvin Spahr and Sherman Huston at guards; Robert Kinsey and Andrew Frazer at tackles; Lester Price, Paul Dice or James Ralls at ends; Birch Bell at quarterback; Howard Thompson at fullback; Charles Adair and Freddie Dalton, William Wagner or Richard Creamer at halfbacks.

Washington's probable lineup is Beatty at center; Thompson and Fite at guards; Barnett and McLean at tackles; Sever and Sexton at ends; Cockerill at quarter; Sampson and Armbrust at halfbacks; Noon at fullback.

The contest will be staged at the Alumni Field starting at 3 o'clock and one of the officials for the game will be H. W. Emswiler, Columbus, graduate of Denison, who is secretary of the Ohio Association of Football Officials.

To guard against injuries, a light workout will be indulged in by the Bucs Thursday afternoon. A few of the boys are not in the best of shape and there is some doubt as to whether Kinsey, veteran tackle, will be able to start, or if he starts, whether he can last through the game. Several others are nursing minor injuries.

RAY HENLEY'S LONG WINNING STREAK BROKEN AT LEXINGTON

After winning twenty-three straight heats this year over the twice arounds without being headed to the wire, Ray Henley, 2:03, three-year-old pacer owned by Geo. Hagler, near Xenia, and trained by his son, Joe Hagler, stepped out of his class and was beaten in the 2:15 pace, first event on the opening day's card at the Grand Circuit meet at Lexington, Ky., Wednesday afternoon. The event was valued at $1,000.

In a field of eleven starters Ray Henley finished fourth in the first two heats and was drawn by Hagler in the third heat. The local pacer was simply outclassed because Darkey Grattan, the favorite, won the first heat in 2:02 1/4 and The Great Guy, a long shot, took the next two heats in 2:02 1/4 and 2:03 1/4.

Nearly fifty Xenians made the trip to Lexington to see how the Hagler speedster could perform in fast company. The pacer, however, made a good showing considering the fast time each heat and is expected to race again in the 2:15 class before the present meeting ends.

MIAMI OFFERS VETERAN TEAM; PROSPECTS APPEAR BRIGHTER

By JOSEPH K. RUKENBROD

I. N. S. Sports Writer

OXFORD, O., Sept. 25.—While the eleven men who will be in the starting lineup when Miami University opens its 1930 football campaign against Indiana at Bloomington Saturday will all be veterans and lettermen, there are several, especially around the center of the line, who will be hard pushed to hold their posts for the rest of the season by several ambitious sophomores.

Rogers and Tauman, veteran guards, are finding that Joe Horn and Jim Evers, husky graduates of last year's freshman squad, are giving them no little worry. Robert Petters, giant sophomore tackle, is making things unpleasant for Pauls, regular left tackle.

Harold North, regular center for the past two seasons, is having a tough time to hold his fort against the attacks of Laurin Bennett and Vernon Cheadle, both second-year candidates.

The backfield, which at present is composed of Corry, Butler, Games and Cartwright, seems more or less intact. None is in immediate danger of losing out to the new backfield aspirants.

The quartette played together last year and the four veterans are expected to form the smoothest running outfit in the Buckeye conference this season. There will be good relief material, however, from a group of sophomores who are shaping up well. Miller, Romp, Sanderson, Gerald Cheadle and Du Bois have been giving the best promise.

Each Chester Pittser will take thirty-five men to Bloomington Saturday to tackle the Hoosiers. Miami is going out of its class but the Big Red eleven will give Page's Big Ten team a battle in every phase of the game.

Pittser is using a modified Illinois form of offense with a sprinkling of far west plays in his bag of tricks. All of his first-string backfield men are fair passers and receivers.

The Miami mentor is certain that his 1930 team will land higher in the Buckeye conference than in the 1929 season. The usual Miami injury jinx does not do too much dirt.

The tentative starting lineup is Gordon and Halpin, ends; Pauls and Vaccariello, tackles; Rogers and Tauman, guards; North center; Games, quarterback; Corry, fullback, and Butler and Cartwright, halfbacks.

Kipke's position is similar to that of Sam Willaman at Ohio and Bob Zuppke at Illinois. Not until he has seen his comparatively green aggregation perform under fire can he be certain of what he has.

Experienced men for the middle of the line are Michigan's biggest need. So hard up is the coach for dependable performers that he has taken three of his biggest backs and converted them into forwards—two of them into guards and the other into a center. Upon the success of these line transformations, Kipke admits, depends largely the success of the team, for he will have little difficulty in choosing a good backfield.

Ends and tackles aren't causing the Wolverine mentor much worry. Four men who could be classed as regulars last season are on hand to fill these posts. Bill Hewitt and Norman Daniels, both 180-pounders and backs at snaring passes, will care for the flanking jobs.

Leo Draveling, a senior, who is looked upon as a likely all-American, will be one of the tackles. Howard Auer, who saw considerable action last year, will be the other.

When it comes to choosing guards, however, Kipke's troubles start. His first choice seems to be Stanley Hozier, a fullback two years ago who was out of school last season. He weighs 185 pounds. Ira Grinnell or Tom Samuels, a couple of 200-pounders, are leading the fight for the other guard position.

Maynard Morrison, whose 210 pounds occupied a fullback berth on last year's team, will be the regular center this season.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Though most of the active stocks settled down to a lower price level today, losses in the favorites were comparatively small and the list as a whole showed better resistance to the attacks of the big bears.

The professionals in the forenoon trained the heavy guns on the farm implements stocks and a few of the specialties, including Vanadium, in which the "pools" are said to be encountering considerable trouble. Case and International Harvester were battered hard, nearly 5 points each and Vanadium declined a 4 1/2 to 65 1/2.

Standard Oil of New Jersey led a reaction of the oil stocks and lost about 2 points at 64. Atlantic Refining, Sinclair, Texas Corp. and other well known oils settled down a point or so as reports of further price slashing in the "gas war" flooded the financial district.

Anaconda Copper directors reduced the dividend rate to $2.50 a share from $3.50, instead of passing it entirely as had been expected. Andes reduced its dividend to $1 a share, while Greene Cananea and Inspiration passed the dividend payments entirely. The copper stocks were unsettled in the forenoon, but rallied as the day advanced. Anaconda moving up more than a point to 41.

United States Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse and other market favorites held fairly steadily within a fractional range of Wednesday's final prices. The amusement stocks started the day at higher levels, but were unable to make much headway against the tide of incoming selling orders.

SCOUT CAMPARALL, COMMITTEE PICKS XENIA FOR MEETING

Xenia will be the meeting place for the 1931 Camparall to be sponsored by the Tecumseh Council Boy Scouts of America. A special meeting of the Camparall program committee headed by H. S. Goodrich, Springfield, held in Scout Headquarters in the Clark County Court House, Tuesday evening, decided the place for this coming Scout event.

Xenia became the unanimous choice of the committee because of its location in the Tecumseh area and because of the increasing interest and progress that Scouting is making in Greene County. May 15 and 16, 1931 were the days selected for the meet. The camp will be on a competitive basis, against Scouting standards rather than brief time periods. One patrol of eight boys from each troop in the council will be eligible to participate in the Camparall.

Members of the committee who attended the meeting Tuesday night were: S. N. McClellan, Greene County Scout commissioner, Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, W. A. Buffenbarger, Fairfield; A. G. Welshimer, and Rev. K. R. Roberts, Urbana; P. E. Deardorff, Rushsylvania; R. M. Abraham, Bellefontaine; and K. E. Dodson, H. S. Goodrich, Lester Melling, and John Woodrow all of Springfield.

Homer T. Gratz, field executive of the Tecumseh Council, announced following the meeting that all Scouts in the council had been invited to attend the Ohio State-Mt. Union football game at Columbus on Sept. 27, as guests of Ohio State University. That day will be observed as Scout Day in Columbus and more than 3,000 Scouts are expected to be in attendance at the gridiron classic.

MRS. TENIA LOCKE CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Tenia Locke, 61, died at a Dayton hospital, where she had been a patient the past two months, Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. Previous to entering the hospital Mrs. Locke had made her home in this city with her daughter, Mrs. Hattie Dillard, Lexington Ave.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Dillard, five grandchildren of this city and four half brothers who live in Jeffersonville. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Nagley Funeral Home, E. Market St., with burial in Woodland Cemetery.

CHANGES PLEA, IS FINED, SENTENCED

Changing his plea to guilty to a charge of operating an auto while intoxicated, Albert Kroger, Dayton was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to thirty days in jail and was deprived of his driving privileges for six months by Probate Judge S. C. Wright Wednesday afternoon. Police Chief Ben South, Wilmington, was instrumental in causing Kroger's arrest September 15. Driving from Wilmington to Dayton he observed Kroger's auto weaving from one side of the Dayton Pike to the other. He stopped the car and summoned county authorities.

YOUTHS PAROLED

Appearing in Juvenile Court Tuesday afternoon to answer charges of delinquency in connection with destruction of a melon patch at the home of Oscar S. Hull, 409 Cincinnati Ave., last Thursday night, four juveniles were paroled in the care of their parents by Judge S. C. Wright but a fifth youth, Clarence Gorman, was given an indeterminate sentence in the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, O. Gorman was formerly a ward of the court.

SPLASH

By Eleanore Burnett

CHAPTER LIV

A happy group of people trooped on board the yacht Kalypso. The day was bright and fair, warm with the coming spring, cool with the remains of winter; a day just right for coats on the water, warm enough to shed them on land.

Kalypso was a sturdy hundred footer; she belonged to one of Mr. Goss' friends. The whole vessel was theirs; there were deck chairs, the settees, a band, a place to dance and many white clad waiters dodging here and there to indicate that the inner man and woman were not to be neglected.

At ten o'clock they swung away from the dock in the North River and turned prow downstream. Kitty recalled her last trip on a boat and shuddered; she was glad she had no prospect today of swimming in that dirty water! She had not thought of it since she had gone overboard so long—or was it so short—a time ago! With-out her blood up, without the anger and indignation at the liberties taken with her, she wondered how she had ever dared to jump over from the ferry at night.

Through the lanes of wharfs and shipping, out past the Goddess of Liberty, holding her torch forever high across the water and into the Narrows sped Kalypso.

Spike passed with Hilda on his arm, the blond phone girl in a marvelous creation of coat and dress which ought to have cost hundreds of dollars and was probably quite inexpensive. Even Mr. Goss' phone girls, well paid though they were, hardly rated Fifth Avenue gowns. But in Spike's proud eyes and smiling face was no consciousness that his sweetheart was dressed in anything but the finest the stores offered.

Kitty caught a glimpse of Edith again she asked herself who had told Baby of her lie to Gordon? She had not answered Baby and blessed Sally that she asked no questions! She hated to lie! What would Edith say? So far Edith had not said anything. Perhaps Baby had neglected to spread the news to him—news! Who was she to marry, Kitty wondered, John Spurgeon? Allee? Bert Croymond? She smiled at the thought, with a sisterly glance at the small man at her side, wrapped in a huge great coat.

So little, so weak, and such a lion heart! If her future husband, whoever he might be, had half the fineness of little Bert, she would be a lucky girl.

She sighed. She had thought herself a lucky girl. But her luck had run out. Gordon loved another.

Gordon was on deck, but he had not passed her. She would speak, the childish idea of cutting him had long passed from her mind. It was far more dignified not to resort to the manners of a well-schooled man as Hilda might show under provocation!—than to express her contempt by a stare.

"Isn't it beautiful?" cried Sally. She turned to Joe Fortune, puffing a cigar at her side. "Joe, why don't we do this every day?"

"When you are Mrs. Fortune," answered Joe, smiling. "I'll buy you a liner—see that one with the three red smoke stacks? Your wedding present, my dear! Nothin' too good for th' queen!"

They sailed on for two hours, alternately dancing, resting, playing deck games, climbing up and down the ladder stairs to the little bridges, flirting with the captain and mate, descending to the engine room, focking into the dining room salon, where they found preparations going on for what was evidently to be a real meal.

Kitty spent much time with Bert, although they were all often in a group. She avoided Edith when she could, but spoke and smiled to others of the office, especially Hilda Bridges, who seemed to have an unusually good time; perhaps, Kitty thought, it was the first time she had been on such an excursion. She did not look as if she ever had very much fun.

Kitty successfully avoided Gordon, who stayed close to Mr. Goss. Kitty would have liked to be in the constantly changing, but always deep group which surrounded the Wall Street king. He seemed entirely different on this party than his usual self in the office.

"He's actually cracking jokes!" cried Hilda as she and Spike danced past her. "And old Noah was a baby, but jokes just the same! Now I expect to see Spike spout poetry and that Platt person do a clog dance! Wouldn't he be beautiful if he wasn't so ramrodish and dignified?"

Kitty smiled in acquiescence, thinking of times when Gordon had forgotten dignity to sit at her feet and hold her hand and pour love into her willing-to-willing, alas—ear. But that belonged to the past! Why couldn't she forget it? She had announced that she was to marry—why not act as if she were engaged?

She hoped the day might pass without her being thrown at all in his company. But it was not to be. Walking with Mr. Goss up and down the deck he almost ran over Kitty and Bert, standing by a life boat. A sudden wave sent the four almost into each other's arms.

"I've been looking for the opportunity, but you've been so busy!" cried Kitty to Mr. Goss. "My friend, our guest, Mr. Croymond. Mr. Goss—and Mr. Platt."

Almost as if it had been a signal, Goss demanded Bert Croymond's arm. He walked away with the little man in tow, leaving Platt standing rather helplessly with Kitty at the rail.

"Am I—he—he—he—we—I mean—" He floundered. Wondering, Kitty saw that his eyes were fixed on Bert with a frown, an expression of wonder and incomprehension.

His expression was so funny, Kitty laughed. She married Bert Croymond! He actually thought it. Suppose he did! She might as well let him think so. She couldn't very well tell him her statement had been merely a blind effort to strike back at him who had struck so heavily.

But Gordon Platt would not be put aside by a glance. "I do congratulate him!" he said, low. "With all my heart I wish you happiness."

The Theater

The Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences is balloting this week to determine the outstanding motion picture achievements of the year ending July 31.

Pictures on the final ballot will be: "All Quiet on the Western Front," "The Big House," "Disraeli," "The Divorcee" and "The Love Parade." The five choice performances by actors will be selected from the following:

George Arliss in "Disraeli;" Wallace Beery in "The Big House;" Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade;" Ronald Colman in "Bulldog Drummond" and Lawrence Tibbett in "The Rogue Song."

The selection of performances by actresses will be made from: Nancy Carroll in "The Devil's Holiday;" Ruth Chatterton in "Sarah and Son;" Greta Garbo in "Anna Christie;" Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee" and Gloria

While in New York rehearsing, Colleen is living in a suite at the Plaza with her brother, Clevie Moore and Virginia Valli, the movie player. Her Hollywood home, a showplace, is vacant.

George O'Brien's new contract with Fox gives him a recess from the Westerns, as he will play the lead in "The Seas Beneath," a submarine picture by Dudley Nichols and William Collier Sr., with John Ford as director. It was Ford who gave O'Brien his first movie chance. That was six years ago in "The Iron Horse" and since then George has been associated mostly with Westerns, although he did play a lead in "Noah's Ark."

Jim Tully says Jack Gilbert's next picture, "Way For a Sailor" is a wow. That's news.

NORMA SHEARER

Swanson in "The Trespasser." Awards will be made to the winners in the vote.

Of the pictures nominated for the final balloting, three have appeared here and one of the others may never be shown in Xenia.

George Arliss was seen in "Disraeli" at the Orpheum and Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee" and Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade" were shown at the Bijou. "All Quiet on the Western Front" is booked for the Orpheum soon but has not been shown here.

"The Big House" is the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer movie barred from Ohio by the state department of education in the belief that its portrayal of prison conditions would stir up controversy against the Ohio Penitentiary holocaust last April. It may be released in this state later, but by that time exhibitors may feel that it will have no appeal and may not book the movie.

Colleen Moore, working in the legitimate now, says she has never worked so hard in all her life. Her play, "On the Loose" by Barney Glazer, will open in Albany October 23.

Colleen will tour with the piece for four weeks before cranking Broadway, and in that time hopes to get used to audiences. Personal appearances have always been a nightmare for her.

A warrant has been issued in Municipal Court for the arrest of William H. Deutsch, Columbus, charged with giving a worthless check for $500 to James Malavazos, one of the proprietors of the Xenia Candy Kitchen, E. Deutsch is said to have been racing horses at Beulah Park at Grove City, near Columbus. Malavazos is said to have received telegrams from both Deutsch and his wife, declaring the check would be made good but has been unable to locate the man.
